

Individual Reflection

Week 4

Felix Oliv

What do I want to learn or understand better?

Current situation

I have created the backend for a challenge. I deliberately chose to underestimate how much work I could do this week because one of our goals this week was to make all members of our team comfortable with coding in android

Goal

Same as last week

Plan

Same as last week

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

Current situation and goal

This week I will focus on helping those in our team that haven't worked with android studio before and aren't familiar with that environment.

Plan

We decided to divide our team into groups of two with one experienced and one inexperienced team member so that we can teach the whole team the basics of programming. Since we are seven people and only 3 hasnt coded for android before I was assigned to start working on the model for our program and I will also be available to help the others if they can't or need help with teaching the others.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I completed my user story assigned to me. We also appointed a scrum master.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I created the basic model for the app as well as helped some of the other members with their task to teach the ones with less or no experience with android a few times.
